HERMAN FRANKS, Manager

Herman Louis Franks is a winner.

He spent most of his baseball career with the San Francisco Giants before being selected to manage the Chicago Cubs in 1977. The Giants' franchise is the only team in the history of the game to win more National League pennants (18) than the Cubs (16).

Franks, who was born January 4, 1914, at Price, Utah, recorded an impressive 367-280 record as a manager for the Giants from 1965 through the 1968 seasons. Although the flag eluded him, he guided the Giants to a runnerup position in each of the four years. In his rookie managerial campaign, Franks' team posted a 95-67 record and was only two games behind the leader when the season ended. It was only a one-and-a-half game margin in 1966 with a 93-68 total.

He started his baseball career as a 17-year-old catcher in 1932 with the Hollywood Club in the Pacific Coast League. When he hung up his playing spikes, in 1949, Franks had six years in the majors with St. Louis (1939), Brooklyn (1940-41), Philadelphia Athletics (1947-48), and the New York Giants in 1949. The other portions of his playing years were in the minor leagues except for a four-year stint in the U.S. Armed Forces (1942-46).

Franks has coached for the Giants (1949-55, 1958, and 1964) and with the Cubs part of the 1971 season when Leo Durocher hired him to substitute for the ailing Joe Becker. Franks scouted for the Giants in 1957 and 1959-60.

Herman was general manager at Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League when he gave a 42-year-old former White Sox and Cleveland third baseman-outfielder a job as manager of the Salt Lake team. In December of 1976, this man—Robert D. Kennedy—was named vice president-baseball operations of the Chicago Cubs and promptly talked Franks into returning to baseball as his field manager.

Herman led an exciting Cubs team in 1977. The club was perched atop the Eastern Division from May 28 to August 5, 69 straight days and finished the season with their best mark since 1972, compiling an 81-81 record.

Franks, who is reportedly astute in investments, has helped many players financially with his knowledge in this area. According to veteran writers, Franks has probably done more for the great Willie Mays on and off the field than any other individual.

COACHING STAFF

JOE AMALFITANO

Joe returns to the Cubs after an absence of several years. Joe coached for the San Diego Padres last season and previous to that, worked for the San Francisco Giants from 1972-74. He began his coaching career with the Cubs, from 1967-71. Joe played 10 years in the majors, toiling for the Giants, Houston Astros and the Cubs. Primarily a second baseman, he played every infield position at one time or another and also saw limited action in the outfield.

JACK BLOOMFIELD

Jack Bloomfield spent the last three seasons as the Cubs first base coach and infield instructor. In 1977, he was to take on new duties as manager for the Cubs' Geneva affiliate and special assignments in scouting, but he returned to the Cubs in early June when Alvin Dark left the team to manage the San Diego Padres. Jack launched a six-season playing career in the minors in 1955, and spent seven years in the Japanese major leagues where he recorded a .374 batting average in 1962. He served in the San Diego organization as a coach and scout and helped sign several of the players on the Padres roster.

HARRY (PEANUTS) LOWREY

Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey was named as the Chicago Cubs third base coach prior to the 1977 campaign. Lowrey broke into the majors with the Cubs in 1942 and played with Chicago until 1949, with the highlight of his career coming in the 1945 World Series when he hit .310. He also appeared in the 1946 All-Star game. Lowrey began his major league coaching career with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1960, coached the Giants from 1967-68, the Expos in 1969, served on the Cubs coaching staff during 1970-71 and coached for the Angels in 1972. Peanuts managed three minor league clubs in 1957-58, and 1960.

MIKE ROARKE

Mike made his debut as a major league pitching coach in 1978. Previously, he was in the Cubs' organization as a roving instructor for pitchers. Mike brings 10 years of major league experience to his position, having been a four-year catcher and three-year coach for the Tigers. He also coached for the Angels for three years. Mike launched a five-year tenure as a minor league manager in 1971. He won the American Association championship in 1972 with the Tigers' Evansville club. Mike's first year with the Cubs was 1974 when he managed the Wichita Aeros.

COOKIE ROJAS

Cookie is preparing for his first year as a major league coach after a long and memorable career as a premier second baseman. Last year Rojas played for the American League Western Division champs, the Kansas City Royals. He spent the past eight seasons in Kansas City, and before then, belonged to the Philadelphia club for seven years. Cookie appeared in five all-star games and is a member of the 1500+ hit club. He has played all nine positions in his career and was selected Philadelphia's greatest second baseman in a 1969 poll.

BIITTNER, Larry 1B-OF
Born 7/27/47 Pocahontas, IA

Acquired: With Steve Renko from Montreal Expos for Andy Thornton on May 17, 1976.

Personal: Larry David Biittner is married and has two sons. In the off-season they reside in Arlington, Texas. Larry is a graduate of Pocahontas (IA) Catholic High and attended Drake University (Des Moines, IA), and Buena Vista College (Storm Lake, IA), majoring in physical education. He has brown hair and blue eyes and enjoys hunting, fishing, and golf. Larry is a teacher in the off-season.

Prior to Majors: Biittner excelled in basketball as well as baseball at Pocahontas (IA) Catholic High School. In fact, he enrolled at Drake University on a full basketball scholarship, but later switched to Buena Vista College at Storm Lake, Iowa, to concentrate on baseball. While attending the latter, he was on the 1967 and 1968 All-Iowa Conference Team, and in 1968 was elected to the NAIA All-American Team. Biittner was originally signed to a professional contract by the Washington Senators in 1968. He had an outstanding minor league season with Pittsfield in the Eastern League (Class AA) in 1970. He batted .3247, but was nosed out of the league batting title by Reading's Greg Luzinski (now with the Philadelphia Phillies) who had a .3248. Larry's performance earned him a berth on Topp's Class-AA All-Star Team.

Major Leagues: Larry moved from Washington to Texas when the Senators changed to the Rangers. Texas traded him on December 20, 1973, to the Montreal Expos for the contract of pitcher Pat Jarvis. In his first full season with the Expos (1975), Biittner batted .315 to lead the team in hitting. He was very consistent that year as verified by the fact he batted .323 at home, .306 on the road, .312 in day games, .317 in night games, .321 on natural grass, and .295 on synthetic surface. He only struck out 33 times in 121 games that season. Larry is a line drive hitter who can spray the ball to all fields. A perfect example was June 19, 1976, when he went four-for-four. Two of the hits were lined to center field, one to left, and the other to right center. In 1977, Larry set career highs in games (138), AB's (493), RBI's (62), home runs (12), doubles (28), hits (147), and runs (74). He hit the best against Cincinnati (.419), Montreal (.333), and San Francisco (.333). He had a .344 batting average with runners in scoring position. Larry started the season at first base, filling in for Bill Buckner who was on the disabled list, and responded admirably with his bat and glove. He maintained a .300 or better average until Bill was able to return to the lineup. After Buckner's return, Larry played left field. He was third on the club in game winning hits with eight, one behind Buckner and Bobby Murcer.

He moved back north of the Mason-Dixon line when he was acquired by the Milwaukee Brewers in December 1974. Broberg achieved his best year in 1975 when he set career highs of 14 wins, 32 games started and 220 innings pitched. Pete appeared in only 20 games in the 1976 season, recording a 4.99 ERA. He was selected by the Seattle Mariners in the expansion draft in the fall, but his contract was purchased by the Cubs on April 19, 1977, and he was assigned to Wichita (AAA). BUCKNER, Bill OF-1B
Born 12/14/49 Vallejo, CA

Acquired: With Ivan DeJesus and Jeff Albert from Los Angeles Dodgers for Rick Monday and Mike Garman on January 11, 1977.

Personal: William Joseph Buckner is married and resides in Woodland Hills, CA. He is a graduate of Napa (CA) High School. Bill enjoys hunting and fishing. He is a rancher during the off-season. Bill has brown hair and eyes.

Prior to Majors: Buckner enjoyed a stellar prep career at Napa High School, where he was a standout in both baseball and football. He was an outstanding wide receiver on the gridiron, being named to the Coaches' All-America team in his junior and senior years, as well as being named to the Northern California Football Hall of Fame. In baseball, Bill hit .667 as a junior and .529 as a senior. Buckner was the Dodgers second selection in the 1968 June Free Agent Draft and he passed up over 60 collegiate football scholarship offers to sign with the Dodgers following his prep career. Buckner has hit .300 in every league he's played in on the professional level starting in 1968 at Ogden, Utah, where his .344 average led the Pioneer League (Rookie Class). He also led the league in games (64), at bats (256), and hits (88). In 1970, his final year in the minors before being elevated permanently, he batted .335 for Spokane (WA), finishing a close third in the race for the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) batting title.

Major Leagues: Buckner's first full season in the majors was in 1971 when he hit .277 for the Dodgers and served primarily as a first baseman. His great potential showed in his second season when he batted a career-high .319 in 105 games. While his average dipped to .275 in 1973, he finished third on the Dodgers in hit production with 158. Bill enjoyed his most productive season in 1974 when he hit .314, fourth best in the National League, stole a career-high 31 bases and had a 17-game hitting streak (longest on the Dodgers) in leading the club to the N.L. pennant. Buckner's most frustrating season was 1975 when a severely sprained ankle hampered him throughout the year and eventually required surgery. He rebounded by playing in 154 games in 1976 with a batting average of .301 and 28 stolen bases. His 193 hits and 60 runs batted in represent personal career highs. Bill showed consistency at the plate in 1976 by never going hitless in more than two successive games, hitting .304 in Los Angeles and .298 on the road, posting a .296 average prior to the All-Star Game and .307 after. BURRIS, Ray

Born 8/22/50

Idabel, OK

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Bertram Ray Burris is married and has three sons. They reside in nearby Palatine, IL. Ray was graduated at Duke (OK) High School and majored in recreational leadership at Southwestern State in Weatherford, OK. Ray has black hair and brown eyes and his hobbies include fishing, hunting, traveling, basketball, coins, and pool. Ray does promotional marketing during the winter months.

Burris, Cont'd

Prior to Majors: Burris participated in Little League and American Legion baseball. He played semi-pro ball for the Lawton (OK) Pepsis and helped lead the club to the Oklahoma State Championship in 1970-71 and was named to the all-state team both years. Ray was on both baseball and basketball teams in high school. At Southwestern State College, he played baseball and basketball earning four varsity baseball letters. In 1971, his junior year, he won 16 and lost 4 with a 1.50 ERA in helping lead Oklahoma College to a NAIA District Nine title. He was named to All-District and NAIA All-American first teams that season. In his senior year, Ray compiled a 9-4 record with a 2.06 ERA, striking out 93 and walking only 13 in 83 innings earning his selection to all-conference and all-district teams. Burris was signed to his first contract by Bill Capps after he was selected by the Cubs in the 17th round of the 1972 free agent draft. Ray was assigned to Bradenton, FL, in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class), and after a short stay devoted entirely to pitching batting practice, was promoted to Midland in the Class AA Texas League. He had a brief visit with the Cubs in 1973 and made it to stay in 1974 after only 29 games in the minor leagues.

Major Leagues: Ray's greatest baseball thrill was "going to the major leagues my second year in pro ball." He picked up his first major league win in his first start on April 18, 1973, when he pitched five shutout innings against the New York Mets. Burris began the 1975 season as a starter and notched his first complete game in his first start of the year gaining a 2-1 decision over the Expos. The first shutout of his career came against the Atlanta Braves on May 26, 1975, as he yielded only four hits. After a disappointing 3-11 start in 1976 Ray turned it around in July to become one of the most effective pitchers in the National League. He won 11 of his last 13 decisions and pitched nine complete games in his last 17 starts, including four shutouts, posting a 2.64 ERA. He tied the National League season high with 25 consecutive shutout innings. Burris was named the National League Pitcher of the Month for August when he was 6-1 with a 1.89 ERA. He had four complete games during the month and walked only seven while striking out 21 in 57 innings. He led the team for the second straight year in victories (15), complete games (10), and shutouts (4). In 1977, Ray compiled a 14-16 record, including five complete games and one shutout. He was given the nod for the second year in a row to pitch the season opener at home vs. the New York Mets. Ray made his debut as a pinch hitter, in a 23-6 rout of the Padres on May 16, 1977. He also blasted one home run and drove in eight runs over the course of the year. He was pitching at the time of the New York blackout last July and had to wait until September 16 to get the 5-2 complete game win. Burris notched his best ERA against New York (3.52), winning two of his three starts with two complete games. His next best marks were against San Francisco (3.60) and Los Angeles (3.86).

Major Leagues: Ivan was first elevated to the majors in 1974 and spent a portion of three seasons on the top level. He appeared in 63 games for the Dodgers in 1975 as he got the opportunity to play on a semi-regular basis when Bill Russell was out with an injured knee. In 1976 he played in 22 games for Los Angeles with his best performances coming against the Atlanta Braves with six hits in 21 at bats for a .286 average. Ivan established himself as the Cubs' full-time shortstop in 1977, playing 155 games which was second on the team to Steve Ontiveros' 156. He and keystone partner Manny Trillo were nicknamed the "Latin Connection" by Baseball Digest as they were so fluid in turning doubleplays. De Jesus was most successful batting against Los Angeles (.327), in August (.306), in day games (.289) and at home (.297). In the Cubs' first season win, Ivan hit his first major league homer, driving in three runs and one more with a sacrifice fly. On May 21, he stole three bases, the club season high. Ivan led the team in at bats (624), hits (166), triples (7), runs (91) and stolen bases (24).

FRYMAN, Woodie

6'2" 205 lb.

Born 4/12/40

Ewing, KY

Acquired: With Bill Caudill and Rudy Meoli from Cincinnati Reds for Bill Bonham on October 31, 1977.

Personal: Woodrow Thompson Fryman is married, has two children, attended Fleming County High School (Flemingsburg, KY) and farms in the off-season. Woodie enjoys hunting and fishing in his native Ewing, KY. He has blond hair and blue eyes.

Prior to Majors: Woodie began his professional career in 1965 when he was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates, after pitching a 12-inning perfect game in semi-pro league, striking out 32 of the 36 batters he faced. He had passed many previous opportunities to sign on with various clubs, feeling that work on the family tobacco farm was more important. He played for Batavia (Class A) and was promoted to Columbus (Class AA).

Major Leagues: Woodie made the big leagues in 1966 with the Pirates. On July 1 of that year, in a game against the Mets, leadoff hitter Ron Hunt singled and then Woodie mowed down the next 27 batters. He was traded to Philadelphia on December 15, 1967, where he amassed a total of 46 wins, 13 shutouts and an ERA of 3.80. His first All-Star game was in 1968. Woodie moved on to the American League, pitching for Detroit from 1972-74, participating in the 1972 Championship Series. He returned to the senior circuit on December 4, 1974, when he was traded to Montreal. He set a Montreal club record by pitching 32.2 scoreless innings from April 16 to May 9, 1975. In 1976, Woodie was selected to play in his second All-Star game. He attained his 100th major league win in June and was honored by the Montreal Baseball Writers' Association as Expos' Player of the Year. Fryman became a Cincinnati Red on December 16, 1976, and appeared in 17 games, started 12, struck out 57 with a 5-5 record. He missed the latter 1977 season when he decided to retire after which he later changed his mind and has agreed to a trade sending his contract to the Cubs.

ROSTER LIMITATIONS

Rosters are limited to 25 players from opening day through August 31 and 40 players from September 1 through conclusion of season. Players in military service do not count against the under control list while on active duty. Upon separation from the service, a player will be reinstated to his club's normal player limits after he has completed a 15-day trial period or has participated in a championship game, whichever comes first.

GEISEL, Dave P
Born 1/18/55 Windber, PA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: John David Geisel is single and resides in Tonawanda, New York, in the off-season. He was graduated at Tonawanda High School. His hobbies include cooking, fishing, hunting, music and cards. Dave has brown hair and eyes.

Prior to Majors: Geisel played Little League, Babe Ruth, and for Tonawanda in the All-American Amateur Baseball Federation. He played basketball and was captain of his baseball team in high school where he was All-Niagara Frontier League selection. He pitched three no-hitters in seven starts and struck out 21 consecutive batters in one game. He was signed to a Cub contract by Ralph DiLullo. He won 20 and lost only 12 in his first two seasons of professional baseball. In the 1975 Arizona Winter Instructional League he recorded a 2.85 earned run average and struck out 38 in 41 innings. He also pitched for Escogido in the 1975-76 Dominican Winter League. He is a big, strong lefthander and one obvious factor stands out in this prospect's favor: he just turned 23 years old in January. Dave has never pitched below double-A classification; an impressive beginning! He spent the entire 1977 season with the Cubs' triple-A affiliate, Wichita. The Cubs young southpaw turned in a 4-6 record with a 4.40 ERA, and 57 strikeouts (fourth highest on the team) in 94 innings pitched. He completed three games in twelve starts. Dave's name appears on the Cubs' major league roster for a second time in his short baseball career.

6'3" 216 lb. S-R
Born 9/11/53 Leominster, MA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Michael William Gordon is single and resides in Brockton, MA, in the off-season. Mike was graduated at Brockton (MA) High School. His religion is Catholic, has brown hair and blue eyes and enjoys fishing and golf.

Prior to Majors: Mike played baseball, basketball, and football in high school and was captain in all three his senior year (1972). He has always been a leader and a winner from Little League (he pitched a perfect game in the state tournament) all the way up through high school and American Legion baseball. His prep baseball team won Suburban League Championship with Mike gaining all-league and All-Boston Scholastic Team honors. He helped lead his football team to a Massachusetts state title in 1970. As a senior, he was named on the Sunkist, Kickoff, and Parade All-American Football Teams and was chosen Outstanding College Football Prospect by Scouting Systems of America. He also played in two state basketball championship tournaments. He was the Cubs' third selection in the 1972 summer free agent draft and—as he was so heavily sought by college grid coaches—Chicago is fortunate Cub scout Len Merullo was able to ink Mike to a baseball pact. In 1975, he was named catcher on the Class A Florida State League All-Star Team.

Major Leagues: As is obvious from his statistics as he advanced up through rookie, A, and AA classifications, Gordon is consistently improving. He is a strong, durable-type player. He is quiet, but always is ready to play. Mike made his major league debut last April on opening day, after Steve Swisher was injured in a collision with Dave Kingman. He was with the club only for a brief time and returned to Wichita on April 20 after Bill Buckner was brought off the disabled list. At Wichita, Mike hit nine homers, drove in 54 runs while appearing in 112 games. He was recalled to the Cubs in September, getting his first major league hit on September 26th in Wrigley Field.

Born 8/1/52 York, PA

Acquired: In trade with Houston Astros for Julio Gonzales on Dec. 8, 1976.

hair and blue eyes.

Prior to Majors: After prep baseball in 1970, Gross signed a professional contract with the Houston Astros. At Covington that year, he led the Appalachian League outfielders in putouts (93), assists (10), and tied in games (54), and double plays (3). He also batted .351 and led the league in hits (74) to gain Appalachian Rookie of Year Award and an all-star berth on the league and Rookie-East teams. He made the 1971 Southern League (Class AA) All-Star Team by hitting .291 for Columbus and the 1973 American Association (Class AAA) All-Star Team with a .330 for Denver. His 174 hits with the latter club was tops in the loop that season.

Major Leagues: He rapped 185 hits to set a club record for the infant Astros in his first full year. He also batted .314 to earn him recognition by The Sporting News and Baseball Digest as Rookie Player of the Year in 1974. It also gained him Houston's Most Valuable Player Award by the local chapter of Baseball Writers Association of America and a runnerup position in the national voting for National League Rookie of Year. He easily gained Topps Rookie All-Star Team that season. In the outfield, he threw out 14 attempting to take an extra base. Greg batted .294 in 1975 and caught 15 over ambitious runners, ranking second in the league. He remained consistent in 1976 with a .286 average and an impressive 13 assists in the field. Last season Greg established career highs in homers (5) and batting average (.322), the top mark on the team. He hit his first major league homer, a three-run blast, on July 6. He added four more during the season, two occurring back-to-back on August 24-25. Greg hit over .300 against seven of the eleven National League teams; the best stats against San Francisco (.385). His averages showed indifference to turf or grass, on which he hit .318 and .333. Greg's talents in hitting and fielding make him a valuable commodity in the outfield corps.

Born 11/14/55 Aguada, P.R.

Acquired: Drafted from the Philadelphia Phillies' Oklahoma City Club in the Major League Draft on Dec. 2, 1976.

Personal: Guillermo "Willie" Hernandez (Villa-neuva) attended Martin Hernandez High in Aguada, P.R. He is single and his hobby is fishing. He is a welder during the off-season. His hair is

Prior to Majors: He played prep baseball and was signed by the Phillies as a free agent in 1974. That season with Spartanburg he led the Western Carolinas League (Class A) in games started (26), complete games (13), innings pitched (190), and strikeouts (179). His 2.75 earned run average ranked ninth. These accomplishments earned him a berth on the WCL All-Star Team. While playing for the Phillies 1974 Florida Winter Instructional League Team, Hernandez recorded a 2.65 ERA. He had a composite won-loss record of 14-6 and a 3.11 in 1975 while pitching for Toledo and Reading of the International League (Class AAA) and Eastern League (Class AA), respectively.

Major Leagues: Willie had a strong rookie season, compiling an 8-7 record with a 3.03 ERA. He was second on the team in game appearances with 67 and recorded 78 strikeouts in 110 innings pitched. This impressive young lefty, then a 21-year-old, appeared as a reliever and combined with Rick Reuschel for a shutout vs. New York on June 24. He picked up his first major league win on May 29 and, three days later, faced six men in relief, striking out five of them. He made only one start, going seven innings, but lost 3-1. He and Steve Renko combined to three-hit the Reds—low hit game for the season—on July 27. Willie gave up only 28 walks and rang up four saves. Pittsburgh was no match for him as he had a perfect ERA, pitching 15 innings in eight games. His second best target was Houston (2.00 ERA, 11 SO). His 1977 performance earned him the Rookie of the Year Award from the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Adrian "Cap" Anson, a member of the first Cub team in the newly formed National League in 1876, was an active player for the Chicago club 22 consecutive years (1876-97), and hit over .300 for 20 of those 22 years—a record that has never been topped!

KELLEHER, Mick IF
5'9" 175 lb. R-R
Born 7/25/47 Seattle, WA

Acquired: In trade with St. Louis Cardinals for Vic Harris on Dec. 17, 1975.

Personal: Michael Dennis Kelleher is married, has one daughter and resides in Santa Barbara, CA, in the off-season. He was graduated at Shoreline High School (Seattle, WA), attended Wenatchee (WA) Junior College and majored in social science at University of Puget Sound (Tacoma, WA). His hobby is buying, collecting and refinishing antique furniture. During the winter months, Mick is a real estate agent. He has hazel eyes, and light brown hair.

Prior to Majors: Kelleher progressed through virtually every type of amateur league. He played Little, Pony, and Babe Ruth Leagues; American Legion; baseball and basketball through high school and junior college; and baseball only at senior college. In his junior prep campaign, 1964, he made the All-Seattle Metropolitan Team. In 1966 and 1967 at Wenatchee, he was named to the All-State Teams. In 1968, he captained Puget Sound and was voted its Most Valuable Player. In 1969, he helped Puget Sound to a NCAA College Division District Eight Championship and netted a berth on the All-District and All-College World Series Teams with a .444 batting average. Mick was drafted by St. Louis in the third round of the free agent draft in June, 1969. In 1971, he led all California League (Class A) shortstops in fielding (.938) and double plays (49); and was voted as C.L.'s Best Defensive Shortstop by the league managers. In 1972, he set all-time American Association (Class AAA) record for highest fielding average (.979) by a shortstop, and also led the circuit in 1974 (.966) and 1975 (.978). He is recipient of Rawlings' Silver Glove Awards (1972 & 1975) as the National Association's best fielding shortstop.

Major Leagues: Mick made his first trip to the majors in late 1972 followed by a short visit in late 1973 with the Cardinals before they sold his contract to Houston on Oct. 23, 1973. He started the 1974 campaign with the Astros, but was soon transferred to the Denver Club in the American Association. He returned to St. Louis on Dec. 13, 1974, to be assigned to its triple-A affiliate at Tulsa before the Cubs acquired him in their trade. Playing for the first full season in the big leagues, he made only 12 errors while handling 491 chances without a flaw for a .976 fielding average in 1976. Only two players in the 24-team major leagues playing in at least 100 games at shortstop had less errors than the quick-footed Kelleher: Houston's Roger Metzger and Cleveland's Frank Duffy had 10 each. Mick's .980 fielding average in 101 games at shortstop was second in the National League to Metzger's .986. Once again in 1977, the spirited infielder's defensive statistics sparkled. At shortstop, he was perfect and flawlessly handled 40 chances in 14 games with 27 assists. Mick played in more games at second base (40) and made 65 putouts in 168 total chances with only four errors for a .976 fielding percentage, even better than starting second sacker, Manny Trillo (.970). He was sidelined about six weeks with a broken right thumb, which cut his chances for even better defensive records. Mick ran together an impressive string of 146 consecutive errorless chances. In late June, he ran on a hot batting streak when he went 12-for-25 (.480) and scored as a pinch runner four straight times. Mick terrorized Montreal pitchers with a .429 average and preferred to hit on grass (.304).

KINGMAN, Dave OF
6'6" 210 lb. R-R
Born 12/21/48 Pendleton, OR

Acquired: Signed as free agent with the Cubs on November 30, 1977.

Personal: David Arthur Kingman is single and resides in Cos Cob, CT. He attended Mt. Prospect (IL) High School, Harper (Palatine, IL) Junior College and the University of Southern California.

He has blond hair and blue eyes and enjoys hunting and fishing. Dave is a sales representative for United Airlines during the off-season.

Prior to Majors: Dave started his brilliant career in high school as a pitcher and was selected by the California Angels in the June 1967 free agent draft. However, he went on to USC where his first varsity season (1968) resulted in an 11-4 record, 1.38 ERA and a hefty .353 average with eight home runs and 26 RBI's in 32 games. He and teammate Jim Barr helped move the Trojans to the College World Series. The Giants picked Dave numero uno in the June 1970 secondary phase of the draft. He went directly to double-A level with Amarillo, pounding out 15 homers and was elevated to Phoenix (Class AAA) in 1971 where he made the switch to first base and the outfield. He slammed 26 shots and drove in 99 RBI's in 105 games.

Major Leagues: Dave was called up to San Francisco in the latter 1971 season and showed his now well-known power by hitting a grand slam off Dave Giusti in his first start. He hit two more off Doc Ellis the next day. Dave stayed with the Giants through 1974, ringing up 77 homers. He was sold to the New York Mets on February 28, 1975. The human power pack belted 36 homers in 1975 and was on his way to his finest year in 1976 when he suffered a hand injury in July. At the time of his disabling, Dave was leading the NL with 32 homers and was second in RBI's with 72. He made his first All-Star game appearance and amazed hundreds of observers with his tremendous clout. On April 15, he knocked a shot out of Wrigley Field that sailed about 600 feet, landing on a porch halfway down the street. His best game was on June 4 at LA when he walloped three homers and drove in eight RBI's. In 1977, Dave circled the country, as he played for New York (N), San Diego, California and New York (A), but still managed to hit 26 home runs.

TWO UNIQUE SHUTOUTS

Thirty-nine pitchers have posted two complete game victories on the same day, but none can match the feat of the Cubs' Ed Reulbach. Opposing the Dodgers in Brooklyn, September 26, 1908, Reulbach pitched two successive shutouts. Ed zipped the Dodgers 5-0 in the opener, and won the second game 3-0.

MURCER, Bobby OF
Born 5/20/46 Oklahoma City,
OK

Acquired: With Steve Ontiveros and Andy Muhlstock from San Francisco Giants for Bill Madlock and Rob Sperring on Feb. 11, 1977.

Personal: Bobby Ray Murcer is married, has two children, and they reside in Oklahoma City, OK.

He was graduated at Southeast High in Oklahoma

City and attended the University of Oklahoma. Bobby's hobbies include hunting, fishing, golf, and tennis.

Prior to Majors: Murcer was a three-sport standout in high school, excelling in baseball, football, and basketball. He was all-state in football, leading the state's Class A schools in scoring. In basketball he was an all-city selection. He was named to the all-city and all-state baseball teams in his senior year and hit .458 with only one strike out all season. He was signed to his first pro contract by the New York Yankees in 1964. That same year Bobby was named Appalachian League (Rookie Class) All-Star shortstop while playing for Johnson City (TN). In 1965 Murcer was fourth in the Carolina League (Class A) batting race with a .322 average and was named to the league all-star team. While with Toledo (Ohio) in the International League (Class AAA) he hit four consecutive home runs in doubleheader against Toronto (two in each game), on June 26.

Major Leagues: Murcer first came up to the major leagues in 1965, when he joined the Yankees late in the season, in just his second year in pro ball. After a stint in the U.S. Army (1967-68), Bobby rejoined the Yankees in 1969 and was shifted to centerfield as the successor to Mickey Mantle. In 1970, he tied for the American League lead in assists by an outfielder (15). He was second in the A.L. in batting (.331) and slugging (.543) in 1971. In 1972, Murcer led the A.L. in runs scored with 102 and total bases with 314, in putouts (382) and total chances (396) to receive the Rawlings Gold Glove Award. He was fourth in the American League batting race in 1973 with a .304 average and tied for the lead in assists (14) by an outfielder. Murcer was named to The Sporting News American League All-Star Team in 1971-72-73 and has played in the Major League All-Star Game for the A.L. in 1971-72-73-74 and for the N.L. in 1975. One of Bobby's greatest baseball thrills was hitting four consecutive home runs in a doubleheader against Cleveland on June 24, 1970. His three circuits in the first game and one in the second tied the major league record most home runs, consecutive at bats and the American League record for the most home runs in a doubleheader. He hit three home runs in one game against Kansas City on July 13, 1973, and hit for the cycle against Texas on August 29, 1972. On August 20, 1976, he hit a home run off Montreal's Dale Murray which was the first homer off Murray in 247-1/3 innings (a modern major league record). In 1977, Chicago took Bobby to its heart as he received more fan mail than any other player. He handled the notorious sun-drenched rightfield superbly, compiling a .980 fielding percentage. He appeared in 154 games and stole a career high 16 bases. He led the Cubs in RBI's (89), total bases (252), home runs (27) and sacrifice flies (10) and tied with Bill Buckner for the lead in game-winning hits (9). Bobby started his homerun parade on April 9, when he blasted a two-run shot. He was part of back-to-back homer connections on three separate occasions: April 24, May 17, and July 28. The big highlight of the past season for Bobby came on June 20 in a wild 12-inning game in San Francisco. He had a total of three hits, two doubles and one homer in six at bats, driving in six runs. His six RBI's marked the club season high. Ironically, the only other time he drove in six RBI's in one game was on May 24, 1975, when he was with the Giants playing against the Cubs. On July 28, 1977, Bobby made his debut as an infielder in a 16-15 slugfest with the Reds. Murcer handled his one chance as a shortstop flawlessly. On September 28, Bobby's homerun shot gave him 200 for his career. Murcer had the most success against LA pitchers as he batted .346 and vs. Philadelphia (.339) with four homers and nine RBI's. His seven homers against Pittsburgh was his high against any club in 1977. Bobby's hottest month was April (.317) and he did his best during the day (.273), at home (.277) and on grass (.284).

ONTIVEROS, Steve IF-OF
Born 10/26/51 Bakersfield, CA

Acquired: With Bobby Murcer and Andy Muhlstock from San Francisco Giants for Bill Madlock and Rob Sperring on Feb. 11, 1977.

Personal: Steven Robert Ontiveros is married, has one son and they reside in Bakersfield, CA. He was graduated at Bakersfield (CA) High and his hobbies include basketball, ping pong, and football. Steve has brown hair and eyes. His greatest baseball thrill was hitting a home run his first pro game.

Prior to Majors: Ontiveros has participated in Little League, American Legion, high school and semi-pro baseball programs. Before graduating from high school in 1969 he helped lead Bakersfield to four straight South Yosemite League baseball championships and earned berths on the all-league squads in his sophomore and junior seasons. Ontiveros was signed to his first pro contract by the San Francisco Giants in 1969. In 1969, Steve led Pioneer League (Rookie Class) third basemen in fielding percentage (.898), and in 1970 led Midwest League (Class A) third basemen in fielding (.915), putouts (93), assists (219) and doubleplays (18). In 1971 while with Fresno, Ontiveros led the California League (Class A) in doubles with 33, triples with 10, second in bases on balls (102) led third basemen in total chances (313), and was named third baseman on the California League and National Association Class A All-Star Teams. He was chosen Topps' Player of the Month for July and, in a poll of California League managers, was voted the best batting prospect, best defensive infielder, and the infielder with the best arm. He was the Pacific Coast League batting champion in 1973 with a .357 average, the highest season average in the PCL since 1956, and he led the league in doubles (32) and triples (16). On July 9, 1973, he hit two home runs, two triples and a single in five at bats, driving in seven runs in a 15-4 win. Among the honors he received that season were: being named to the PCL and National Association Class AAA All-Star Teams as an outfielder, voted league's Player of the Month for July, named Topps' Player of the Year, and was chosen Minor League Player of the Year by The Sporting News.

Major Leagues: Steve first came to the majors in 1973 when he joined the Giants late in the season, and he hasn't been off a major league roster since. On August 24, 1975, Steve was playing right field and made a spectacular catch on John Milner's looping line drive to save Ed Halicki's no-hitter. On September 3, 1975, he enjoyed a career high four-hit game against Houston in the Astrodome. With the Cubs in 1977, he blossomed into a highly respectable third baseman and set his career highs for one season. Among those on the team playing enough to qualify for the league batting race, Steve had highest batting average on the team (.299) and led in walks (81). Steve tied with Jerry Morales for the longest hitting streak when he connected 13 games in a row, May 6-19. As a switchhitter, Steve was effective from both sides of the plate, batting .308 righthanded and .293 lefthanded. Among the highlights in Steve's year was the breakup of a Tom Seaver no-hitter on April 17 with a fifth-inning single. His hitting remained smooth throughout the season, the highest month being May (.365). He was amazingly stable in day-night games (.298-.301) and on turf-grass (.297-.302), but preferred the "friendly confines" where he hit .322.

started the 1967 season with Salt Lake City (Rookie) and compiled enough impressive stats to earn a promotion to Fresno (Class A). He moved steadily through the various minor league classifications, culminating in a superior year at Phoenix (Class AAA) in 1971 when he led Pacific Coast League batters with a .314 and was named to the All-Star team.

Major Leagues: Dave started his major league career on a good note. After making his debut in 1971, he became the Giants top catcher and was selected National League Rookie of the Year by The Sporting News in 1972. Dave remained with San Francisco through 1976. His hottest year was 1975 when he put together a 12-game hitting streak and batted .291. The Giants gave him up to the Cardinals on October 26, 1976, and, in 1977, Dave did a good job for them, appearing in 66 games behind the endurable Ted Simmons.

Major Leagues: In 1975, after earning a 6-4 record at Wichita of the American Association (Class AAA), Paul was called up to the Cubs. The high point of the 1975 season for Paul came on August 21, against the Dodgers, when he held them scoreless for the final 2.2 innings to save the shutout for his younger brother, Rick. In 1976, Paul's first full year with the Cubs, he appeared in 50 games, getting the nod for his first two major league starts, and earned a 4-2 record. The 1977 season was Paul's second full year in the big leagues. He held the team lead for game appearances with 69 and also set a career high 61 strikeouts, while recording four saves. Excellent ERA's of 0.90, 1.50 and 1.93 made Paul a tough match for St. Louis, San Diego, and Pittsburgh, respectively.

REUSCHEL, Rick P
6'3" 230 lb. R-R
Born 5/16/49 Quincy, IL

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Rick Eugene Reuschel is married, has one son and resides in nearby Arlington Heights, IL. He was graduated at Central High School in Camp Point, IL and majored in Mathematics at Western (Macomb) Illinois University. His hobbies include carpentry and basketball. Rick has brown hair and eyes. His older brother, Paul, also pitches for the Cubs.

Prior to Majors: Rick played in Little League and Pony League ball in Golden, IL, and American Legion ball in Keokuk, IA. He pitched on the varsity baseball team at Western Illinois University. In 1968, as a member of the Galesburg Pioneers of the Central Illinois Collegiate League, Rick earned a 4-4 record with a 3.42 ERA. In 1969, he helped guide Western Illinois to the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Championship with a superb 10-0 record and a 1.29 ERA. That same year Reuschel was named to the all-conference and all-district teams. Rick was signed to his first pro contract by Elvin Tappe of the Chicago Cubs. In 1970, Reuschel led the Northern League in complete games with seven. Rick owned a 2.31 ERA in 1971 with the San Antonio club in the Texas League (Class AA). When he was promoted to the big club from Wichita in June, 1972, Reuschel was leading the American Association (Class AAA) in ERA (1.33), wins (9), complete games (8), and shutouts (3).

Major Leagues: In his first major league game, June 19, 1972, Rick struck out the only man he faced—Bobby Bonds of San Francisco. The next day he recorded his first big league win in six innings of relief, and hit a double in his first time at bat for his first RBI. In 1973, he was 12th in ERA (3.00) in the National League and in 1974 led National League pitchers in total chances (84). In 1975, Rick earned a 3.73 ERA, starting all but one of his 38 games. A rare baseball phenomena took place on August 21 vs. the Dodgers, when Rick and his older brother, Paul, combined to blank the Dodgers for nine innings, giving Rick the win and Paul the save. Rick started 37 of his 38 games in 1976, earning one save in his only relief appearance. Rick's lowest hit game of his career was on June 4 vs. Houston, when he pitched eight innings, allowing only one unearned run on two hits, but he lost the heartbreaker 1-0. 1977 marked the year that Rick finally entered "the cream of the crop corps" among National League pitchers. He compiled the best statistics of his career and became the Cubs' 24th 20-game winner and the first since Fergie Jenkins won 20 in 1972. Rick led the staff in several categories—victories (20), complete games (8), shutouts (4), innings pitched (252), and strikeouts (166). He set club highs for longest winning streak (from June 6 to July 11, 6 wins), most consecutive scoreless innings (20.2, June 28 to July 12), and most strikeouts in one game (11, August 17 vs. Pittsburgh). He started 37 games and appeared in two relief situations, winning one game and saving the other. Rick highlighted his superb season by appearing in his first All-Star game. His hottest month was June, when he was named National League Pitcher of the Month. For that period, he was 5-0 with an 0.92 ERA and one save. In 48.2 innings, he yielded 28 hits, seven runs, five earned, walked 15 and struck out 36. Until August 12, Rick put together impressive Wrigley Field statistics. He had won 11 straight games, a 1.22 ERA, 35.1 shutout innings and no homeruns in 50.2 innings. Rick's bat provided sparks as he got 18 hits, including three doubles, one triple, one homer and eight RBI's. Reuschel did well against all National League teams, but his most beatable foe was Cincinnati (3-0, 0.92 ERA, one shutout).

In 1975, with Key West (Class A), he tied for the Florida State League lead in assists by a pitcher (36). Arizona Instructional League, making 10 appearances with a 3.38 ERA. Last season, a tryout with Wichita (AAA) gave George a 4.85 ERA in nine games, so he returned to Midland (Class AA) and finished the season with a 3-1 record, along with 57 strikeouts in 75 innings and six saves, second highest on the team. George is making his first appearance on a major league roster.

With Asheville (Class AA) in 1966, Dave led the Southern League in complete games (14), shutouts (4) and ERA (2.61). He has been a member of seven different major league organizations: originally signed by the Phillies in 1963, claimed on waivers as a first-year player by the Pirates in 1964, was drafted by the Athletics at the end of 1966.

Major Leagues: He was claimed by the San Diego Padres in the 1969 expansion draft, who brought him up to appear in 22 games in 1969. He opened the 1970 season by retiring 18 straight Dodgers in an April 10 relief job and later set a Padre club record with 28.1 scoreless innings from September 10-29. He also holds the best Padre ERA with a 2.10 in 1971 (second in the National League, fourth in the majors that year). Dave was traded to Houston on December 3, 1971, and remained there through 1975. His greatest year was in 1973 when he recorded 17 victories and six shutouts (an Astro record), a 2.86 ERA with 119 strikeouts. In a seven-player deal on December 6, 1975, Dave was traded to the Detroit Tigers. His first start was on April 17 against California with a two-hit shutout and he went on to lead the club with 36 starts (tied for seventh in American League) and 252 innings pitched. Dave ranked second with 16 wins, 18 complete games and tied Mark Fidrych with four shutouts. Dave went the first half of the 1977 season with Detroit and then came to the Cubs where he was used in long relief and as a spot starter.

ROLAIDS RELIEF MAN AWARDS

In an effort to further reward one of baseball's most significant set of specialists, the Warner-Lambert Company is sponsoring the Rolaid's Relief Man Awards. The awards are in the form of sterling silver trophies of fireman's caps. The premier relievers in the American and National Leagues and on each of the 26 major league clubs will be selected on the basis of a newly-established point system which awards two points for each win, similar number for each save and will take one point away for each loss. In case of ties, the hurler with the lowest ERA will be declared the winner. Bruce Sutter was the Cubs' Rolaid's Relief Man in 1977 with seven wins, 31 saves and three losses for a total of 73 points and ranked second in the National League to Rollie Fingers who had 77 points.

SEMBER, Mike IF
6' 185 lb. R-R
Born 2/24/53 Hammond, IN

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Michael David (Mike) Sember is single and resides in Lansing, IL in the off-season. Mike was graduated at Bishop Noll Institute (Hammond, IN) and majored in broadcasting at University of Tulsa (OK). Mike has brown hair and eyes; and enjoys tennis, and disco music.

He was instrumental in Tulsa winning four consecutive Missouri Valley Conference (MVC) Championships, 1971-74; a NCAA District Five title and a tie for second place in the College World Series in 1971. Sember's play gained him a shortstop berth on the All-MVC Teams in 1972, 73, and 74; All-District Five in 1973 and 74; and Academic All-American Team in 1974. He batted .349 with eight homers and 29 RBI's in 43 games in 1972; hit .352 with 16 RBI's, and 22 SB's in 51 G's in 1974. His greatest baseball thrill was hitting two home runs to beat Memphis State, 9-8, in the 1973 MVC Championship Game. He played semi-pro baseball at Liberal, KS, and Midlothian, IL. Mike was drafted in the second round of the June 1974 free agent draft by the Cubs and was signed by scout John Hennessy. In 1975 at Midland, he led all Texas League (Class AA) shortstops in fielding (.937), putouts (218), and total chances (623). During the 1976 season, Mike played outfield at Midland and shortstop at Wichita in the American Association (AAA). He stayed with Wichita during the 1977 swing, as the team's No. 1 shortstop, appearing in 103 games with a .245 average.

Major Leagues: Sember was called up to the parent club in mid-August, after Mick Kelleher broke his right thumb. He saw action in three games, playing second base errorlessly. His single on August 22 marked his first major league hit.

SUTTER, Bruce P
6'2" 190 lb. R-R
Born 1/8/53 Lancaster, PA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Howard Bruce Sutter is married, has one son, and resides in Arlington Heights, IL, in the off-season. Bruce was graduated at Donegal High School (Mt. Joy, PA). His hobbies include hunting and fishing. Bruce has blue eyes and brown hair.

Prior to Majors: Bruce excelled in baseball, basketball, and football at Donegal High School and received honors in each sport. He helped lead the baseball team to the Lancaster County championship and was chosen all-county pitcher. He helped take the basketball team to the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association District Three title. In football he was chosen the district's outstanding quarterback. He captained the basketball and football teams in his senior year and received the school's Outstanding Athlete Award. Sutter played American Legion ball, leading Mount Joy's team to the District Ten championship and was voted the district's best pitcher. He played semi-pro ball for Hippey's Raiders in the Lebanon Valley League. Sutter was signed to his first pro contract by Ralph DiLullo of the Chicago Cubs. In the fall of 1974, Bruce pitched for the Cubs team in the Arizona Instructional League posting a 3-0 record with a 0.90 ERA and led the league with seven saves.

Major Leagues: Bruce was called up to the Cubs on May 8, 1976, and made his major league debut the next day against the Cincinnati Reds. He was credited with his first major league save on May 23 against the Pirates in Pittsburgh and picked up his first win on July 9 against the Giants. Sutter established himself as the ace righthander in the bull pen and led all Cub relievers in wins with six, saves with 10, and an ERA of 2.71 earning him the Cub nomination for the Rolaid's Relief Man Award. Bruce proved himself to be the top control artist on the staff posting the best strikeout-walk ratio (nearly 3 to 1) and the best strikeouts per inning pitched (73 K's in 83 IP). The local chapter of the BBWAA named Bruce the 1976 Rookie of the Year. Phenomenal is the only word to describe Bruce's contributions to the 1977 Cub campaign. The young forkball (he calls it a "split-fingered fast ball") specialist not only won seven games in 1977, but he saved 31 to tie Ted Abernathy's

Cub save record established in 1965. Obviously, Bruce was the Cubs' nomination again for the Rolands Relief Man Award. His 1.35 ERA was lowest in the majors of those pitching in 100-or-more innings. In 107 innings, he struck out a sizzling total of 129 while unintentionally walking only 16 and permitting only 69 hits. Going into the 1978 season, Sutter will have a string of 39 straight relief appearances in which he has recorded at least one strikeout. On September 8, Bruce tied a National League record for the most consecutive strikeouts by a relief pitcher when he struck out the first six men he faced. In the ninth inning of the same game vs. the Expos, he struck out the side on nine pitches. He was selected National League Player of the Week for May 9-15 (4 games, 3 saves, 6 IP, 2 H, 0 BB, 7 SO) and National League Pitcher of the Month, also in May (0-1, 15 games, 11 saves, 30 IP, 14 H, 2 BB, 28 SO, 0.90 ERA). He saved four consecutive games on two separate occasions—June 22-28 and September 18-26. Bruce incurred a muscle injury and was sidelined twice from mid-July through much of August (including a stint on the disabled list, August 2-23), which forced him to miss his first Major League All-Star Game. Bruce continued his lifetime success against Philadelphia with 12.2 scoreless innings, 12 strikeouts and five saves in 1977. Bruce was fifth in the balloting for the Cy Young Award and was an easy choice as the recipient of the Headliner Award from the Chicago Chapter of the Baseball Winters' Association of America for his 1977 performance.

Arizona Winter Instructional League batting race and was tied for the lead in triples. In 1976, he played most of his games at first base at Midland in the Texas League (Class AA), but he is also an outfielder. In 116 games at both positions, he made only 12 errors. Scot spent the 1977 season at Wichita, putting together a fine year. The 22-year-old professional has been steadily improving as he climbed rapidly through four minor league classifications to his fine .305 season last year to earn the elevation to the Cubs major league roster. With Wichita, Scot was second in games (124), at bats (441), runs (77), hits (136), and doubles (24).

TRILLO, Manny IF
6'1" 160 lb. R-R
Born 12/25/50 Caritito, Venez.

Acquired: With Darold Knowles and Bob Locker from Oakland A's for Billy Williams on Oct. 23, 1974.

Personal: Jesus Manuel Trillo is married, has three daughters and one son, and resides in Caracas, Venezuela, in the off-season. Manny is a graduate of Tecnica Industrial and attended Libertador Bolivar (both located in Maturin, Monagas, Venez.). In the off-season, Manny plays baseball for Caracas in the Venezuelan League, and also enjoys going to movies and playing golf. Manny has black hair and brown eyes.

Prior to Majors: Trillo played Little League baseball, and competed in basketball and volleyball as well as baseball in high school. He was originally signed to a pro pact by the Phillies as a catcher, but also played in the infield in his first year. He was selected by Oakland at the major league draft session of the 1969 Winter Baseball Meetings after a fine sophomore season in pro baseball. When he worked up to the Iowa Club of the American Association (Class AAA), he was consistently around the .270 mark. At Iowa, he batted .301 (4th in loop) with 27 doubles, six triples, and nine home runs to gain a berth on the American Association All-Star Team. When the franchise moved to Tucson, Manny found the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) about the same as he almost matched his figures the year before (.312 BAVG, 25 2B's, 7 3B's, 8 HR's). He also had 76 runs, 78 RBI's, and 162 hits (3rd in league); led second basemen in fielding (.973), putouts (304), assists (373), and double plays (113); gaining a spot on the PCL All-Star Team and a boost to the major leagues.

Major Leagues: Manny had only 39 games in the majors before the Cubs acquired him in trade. He played 154 games in his first season in Cub pinstripes to share the team high with Jose Cardenal. In 1976, the durable Trillo stood alone at the top with 158, only missing four games the entire year. His 17 stolen bases that year was not only the second best on the club (Cardenal had 23) but was by far the most in Trillo's life as a professional ball player. Defensively, Trillo's play at second base improved considerably as he continues his quest of becoming the best keystone man in the majors. After leading the National League second sackers with 509 assists in 1975 to help him gain Chicago Rookie of the Year Award, Trillo did even better in 1976 by compiling 527 and 350 putouts while making only 17 errors for a .981 fielding percentage. In 1976, Manny had a span of 42 consecutive errorless games (July 29-September 10) in which he flawlessly handled 69 putouts and 143 assists. In 1977, Manny led National League batters through the first half of the year, reaching a peak average of .388 on May 9 and was selected National League Player of the Week for May 2-8 (.550, 11 H, 20 AB, 2 2B, 1 3B, 3 HR, 9 RBI). He tied a major league record on April 15 by getting two doubles in one inning. Manny appeared in his first All-Star game in July and, even though his average trailed off a bit, finished the year by setting career highs for himself in batting average (.280), hits (141), and home runs (5). He preferred the pickings of Western Division pitchers, batting .317 overall and scorching Atlanta hurlers with a .477. His favorite Eastern Division victim was Pittsburgh, against whom he clipped at a .365 pace. Manny hit well on natural turf (.329), vs. RH pitchers (.348), at home (.283) and at night (.285). Defensively, he compiled a fine .970 fielding percentage with 330 putouts and 467 assists, including spectacular plays.

WALLIS, Joe OF
5'10" 195 lb. S-R
Born 1/9/52 E. St. Louis, IL

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Harold Joseph Wallis is single and resides in Florissant MO. Joe was graduated at McCluer High (Florissant, MO) and attended Southern (Carbondale) Illinois University, majoring in business. "Tarzan" enjoys sports, music, and "cliff diving of any kind." He has blue eyes and blonde hair.

Prior to Majors: Wallis played Khoury League and American Legion baseball. He played football and was an All-Missourian in baseball as a prepster. He was drafted by Houston, but did not sign. At SIU, he was named to the College All-American Team. Joe had tied for lead in the NCAA University Division in stolen bases and was third with a .446 batting average and sixth with a .715 slugging percentage as a sophomore. In district competition, his .466 was the second best in SIU history earning him Adirondack's "Big Stick" Award and gaining him a cover photograph on the 1973 Official Collegiate Baseball Guide. He "dropped" to a .364 and paced his team in many offensive categories as a junior. In 1973, he was drafted by the Cubs and signed by Elvin Tappe. Wallis led the Florida State League (Class A) with 16 home runs and was second in assists (15) by outfielders in 1974. Later that year, he hit .319 to lead Arizona Winter Instructional League. In 1975, he hit safely in his last 18 games with Wichita in the American Association (Class AAA).

Major Leagues: On September 24, 1975, shortly after his elevation to the majors, Joe hit a ninth inning single with two out and a 0-2 count to spoil New York's Tom Seaver's bid for his first no-hitter. Cubs eventually won the fracas, 1-0, in the 11th. In 1976, Wallis earned a permanent spot on the Cubs' 25-man roster with his outstanding defensive play in center-field. When club manager Jim Marshall decided to move veteran Rick Monday from center to first base, Wallis responded well with the bat also. The 25-year-old switchhitter batted .254 overall, but a more impressive .283 against righthanded pitchers against whom he was used more often. During a period when Monday was injured and Wallis played more regular, Joe hit safely in 17 of 18 games from July 20-August 4. He saw limited action in the 1977 season, due to a hand injury. As a reserve outfielder, Joe participated in 56 games, scoring 14 runs. He had a good month in May, scoring eight runs and getting eight hits. The moundmen of the Houston club feared Joe's stick as he batted .438 against them. Joe continued his fine defensive play, making only one error the entire season.

DAHLEN'S AMAZING STREAK

Bill Dahlen recorded a .274 batting average after 21 years in the National League as a shortstop, but in 1894 he hit .362 thanks to an amazing 42-game hitting streak (June 20 thru Aug. 6). After he was held hitless Aug. 7, the Cub infielder then put together a 28-game span (Aug. 8 thru Sept. 9) for a total of 70 games in which he hit safely out of 71 consecutively played games. The 42-game streak is tops in the National League and is second only to Joe Dimaggio's 56 in the American League. No player has equalled Dahlen's 70-out-of-71.

On Sept. 8, 1977, Bruce Sutter tied a National League record for the most consecutive strikeouts by a relief pitcher when he struck out the first six men he faced. It was the seventh time it has been done and first since Aug. 23, 1970. In the 10th inning, he became the ninth National League pitcher to strike out the side on nine pitches.

Rawlings dominates the World Series.

All of the balls, most of the gloves, and the record setting bat.

Rawlings Baseballs: We made every ball used during the Series and the regular season. And we will for the next nine years. Rawlings Gloves: At least thirteen of the starters in each Series game used Rawlings gloves. And during the regular season, more players used Rawlings than any other brand. Adirondack® Bats: Our familiar "Pro Ring" circled bats swung by sixteen of the thirty-six Series batters. One swung his Adirondack a little better than the rest—to break or tie eight Series slugging records. Rawlings Domination: What's it mean to you? Plenty. Because if you're a little leaguer, beer leaguer, or semi-pro, there's a Rawlings ball, glove and bat that's as right for you as the models we build for the pros. And you can't build 'em any better than that.

LADIES' DAYS continue in 1978. Every Friday the Cubs play at Wrigley Field, all ladies, 14 years of age and older, are admitted to the unreserved grandstand for only $1.00.

CAN YOU TOP THIS ONE?

Don Cardwell, making his first start for the Cubs, May 15, 1960, pitched a no-hit, no-run game en route to a 4-0 conquest of the Cardinals in Wrigley Field. It was the second game of a doubleheader. Darkness was closing in when Moose Moryn made a circus catch of Joe Cunningham's sinking liner for the last out.

DUNLOP, Harry

WICHITA AEROS

Harry Dunlop brings 23 years of major-minor league experience to his job as manager of the Wichita Aeros. Prior to joining the Aeros in 1977, he spent eight years coaching in the majors, seven for the Kansas City Royals and one season for the Cubs. A catcher by trade, Dunlop devoted 14 seasons to playing, managing and coaching in the minors. Twice he earned Manager-of-the-Year recognition in 1963 and 1967 with two clubs in the California State League: Stockton and San Jose. Harry reached the peak of his playing career in 1958 when he hit .349 for Tucson.

SAUL, Jim

MIDLAND CUBS

Jim Saul spent two seasons as the bullpen coach for the Chicago Cubs, before being named manager of the Midland Cubs previous to the 1977 campaign. Jim played 14 seasons of professional baseball, leading all Pacific Coast League catchers with an amazing .997 fielding percentage for the 1963 season. Saul played and managed in the California Angels farm system and managed the Angels' instructional league teams twice. In 1972 he served as a player-coach for the Wichita Aeros.

HIATT, Jack

POMPANO BEACH CUBS

Jack Hiatt played 66 of his 483 major league games with the Cubs before concluding his eight year career in 1972. Besides the Cubs, Hiatt caught for the Angels, the Giants, the Expos and finally the Astros. After a player-coach role with the Wichita Aeros under Mike Roarke, Jack was named manager of the Cubs' Bradenton, Fla. Club in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) in 1975. He also managed the Cubs' team in the Arizona Instructional League in the fall of 1975 earning his promotion to the Pompano Beach Club in the Class A Florida State League in 1976.

HARTSFIELD, Bob

GENEVA CUBS

Bob Hartsfield earned a promotion after managing the 1977 Bradenton Cubs. He is entering his fifth season in managing and his second managerial assignment in the Cub organization. Bob's biggest baseball thrill was breaking into pro ball with a 21-game hitting streak. He was a scout for 11 years, starting with the Cubs in 1963 and working for Atlanta and San Francisco. He was the assistant baseball coach for Georgia Tech in 1964. Bob is the younger brother of Roy Hartsfield, currently the manager for the Toronto Bluejays.

HUNDLEY, Randy

BRADENTON CUBS

Randy Hundley will be making his debut as a manager in 1978, after serving as the Cubs bullpen coach the past two seasons. Randy signed his first professional contract with the San Francisco Giants organization in 1960, played with the Giants briefly in 1964 and 1965 and joined the Cubs for the 1966 season. Randy was rated as one of the better defensive catchers earning the Golden Glove Award in 1967. He established the following major league records: Most home runs, catcher, rookie season (19), 1966; most games, catcher, season (160), 1968; highest fielding average, catcher, season (150 or more games), .996, in 1967; fewest errors by catcher, season (150 or more games), 4, in 1967. He led the National League catchers in doubleplays with 17 in 1969.

ADAMS, Bobby

ROVING INSTR.

Bobby Adams spent 14 years in the major leagues prepping for his present position: teaching the art of infield play to the young players in the Cubs' affiliated clubs. They were one of four clubs Adams played for in the majors. The others were the Reds, his original club; the Orioles; and the White Sox. In 1966 Bobby moved into the executive end of baseball, serving six years as the president of the Cubs' Tacoma club, and one at Midland. Bobby returned to the field in 1973, and is presently in his sixth season in his latest role.

MARTIN, Fred

ROVING INSTR.

Fred Martin returned to the Cubs as a roving instructor in 1977 after a one-year leave of absence. Fred's task is to help teach prospective major league pitchers some of the finer points in pitching and he has the credentials, this being his 42nd year in pro ball. He began his remarkable playing career in 1935 with the Cardinals, and he was still active as a relief pitcher at the age of 44 (with Houston of the Texas League). He is the pitching coach responsible for teaching Bruce Sutter the forkball which Bruce refers to as his "split-fingered fast ball."

REISER, Pete

ROVING INSTR.

Pete Reiser was 21 years old when he won the National League batting championship in 1941 with a .343 average. Five years later he stole home seven times to establish a still-standing major league record. The man they call "Pistol Pete" did two stints as a Cub coach, staying four years the first time, and two years the second time. He is presently starting his fifth season as a roving hitting and outfield tutor in the Cubs' farm system. During his thrill-filled playing career with the Dodgers, Reiser twice led the National League in stolen bases.

WILLIAMS, Billy

ROVING INSTR.

Billy Williams, a former National League batting champion, has rejoined the Chicago Cubs organization as a minor league batting instructor after a year of retirement from active play. Williams began his 16-year major league career as an outfielder-first baseman with the Chicago Cubs in 1959. He was named 1961 National League Rookie of the Year. His .333 batting average in 1972 gave him the National League Batting Championship and earned him the Major League Player of the Year Award given by "The Sporting News." While he has established many records, probably his most cherished is the National League mark of 1,117 consecutive games played (Sept. 22, 1963 - Sept. 3, 1970).

WEEKEND PITCHER

Lefty Ken Holtzman, winner of two no-hit, no-run games for the Cubs, had a very remarkable season in 1967. Limited to pitching in only twelve weekend games while on leave from the army, Holtzman won nine straight without a loss. The soldier-pitcher would fly on Friday night, pitch on Saturday, and return to camp Sunday morning.

SHUTOUT STARS

Four pitchers have accounted for fifty-four shutout victories for the Cubs. Mordecai Brown pitched nine twice. Once in 1906 and again in 1908. Orval Overall reached nine in both 1907 and 1909. Grover Cleveland Alexander had nine in 1919, and 19 years later, "General" Bill Lee posted nine zip performances.

FREE AGENT DRAFT RULE

Major league and National Association clubs participate in two meetings a year for the purpose of drafting free agent player talent. Selection of a free agent entitles the club to the exclusive right of negotiation with the player for a specified period (from the date of selection until 15 days prior to the next draft meeting). Draft meetings are held in June and January.

There are two categories to each draft meeting:

(1) Regular Phase—Selection of free agents is in inverse order of major league standings. Each organization may select only one player for each of its major league, "AAA" and "AA" rosters but is not limited to the number of picks for "A" level. Minor league clubs select in the same order as their parent clubs.

(2) Secondary Phase—Selection is of free agents who had been drafted at a previous meeting, but who were not subsequently signed during the negotiation period. It is possible for a club to redraft a player whom it had been unable to sign after the original selection, but only with written consent of that player. Order of selection in the secondary phase is determined by lot.

DID YOU KNOW ... that two Cubs hit home runs in their first time at bat in the major leagues? They were outfielder Frank Ernaga (May 24, 1957) and catcher Cuno Barragan (Sept. 1, 1961).

GENERAL RULES INFORMATION

Player Limits: Clubs must cut active roster to a maximum of 25 players on opening day. . . . From Sept. 1 to opening day, clubs may carry up to 40 players.

Trades within the National League: From midnight the last day of the season to midnight June 15, player contracts may be traded or sold without getting waivers. . . . From June 15 to the end of the season, League waivers are necessary.

Waivers: Player contracts may be available for purchase by other clubs in reverse order of the League standings at the time waivers expire, if more than 30 days after opening day. Otherwise, in reverse order of the standing at the close of the previous season.

Inter-League Trades: From midnight on the fifth day after the completion of the World Series to midnight of the day preceding the last day of the Winter Meetings and from February 15 to midnight, March 15, player contracts may be traded or sold between clubs of the National and American League without waivers. . . . From midnight, Dec. 10, to midnight, June 15, and from the last day of the season through the fourth day after the completion of the World Series, waivers are necessary in the assignor's league. . . . From midnight, June 15, to the last day of the season, waivers from all major league clubs are necessary.

Regulation Game: A regulation game consists of nine innings unless extended because of a tie score or shortened because (1) the home team needs none of its half of the ninth or only part of it; or (2) because the umpire-in-chief calls the game after five completed innings. A regulation game may be less than five innings if the home team is ahead after the first of the fifth, or takes the lead or ties the score while at bat in the fifth.

Tie Game: A regulation game that is called by the umpire-in-chief when both teams have the same number of runs is a tie game. Individual player performances are official and are entered in the records, but the game does not count in the League standings and may be re-scheduled at a later date.

Suspended Game: A game becomes a suspended game if it is terminated for any of the following reasons: (1) a curfew imposed by law; (2) a time limit permissible under league rules; (3) light failure or malfunction of a mechanical field device under control of the home club (including automatic tarpaulin or water removal equipment; or (4) Darkness because of any law, the lights may not be turned on. No game called because of a curfew or a time limit shall be a suspended game unless it has progressed far enough to have been a regulation game (see above). A game called under either provision (3) or (4) shall be a suspended game at any time after it starts. Note: weather and similar conditions shall take precedence in determining whether a called game shall be a suspended game. A game can only be considered a suspended game if stopped for any of the four reasons specified. Any legal game called due to weather with the score tied is a "tie game" and must be replayed in its entirety.

NEW "SAVE" RULE

Effective in 1975 the new "save" rule reads: "A pitcher shall be credited with a save when he meets all three of the following conditions:

- (1) He is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club, and
- (2) He is not the winning pitcher, and
- (3) He qualifies under one of the following conditions:
 - (a) He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning, or
 - (b) He enters the game with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces), or
 - (c) He pitches effectively for at least three innings."

Pitch Hit & Run

Michael Shanley, 11, of Fords, N.J. displays the hitting style which enabled him to come up with the longest hit in last year's Pitch, Hit & Run finals competition — 196 feet. Pitch, Hit & Run, Major League Baseball's official youth competition for boys and girls, 9-12, is sponsored by the Thom McAn Shoe Company in association with the National Recreation and Park Association and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. Registration for the 1978 Pitch, Hit & Run Competition starts April 3 and runs through May 13. Tips Books are available free at all Thom McAn stores and participating dealers. Official registration forms are also available free at all Park and Recreation departments which conduct local competitions.

CUBS' "HOME AWAY FROM HOME" IN ARIZONA

When baseball is in the air, but snow is still on the ground in the Midwest, the Chicago Cubs happily travel to the sunny Southwest each February to prepare for the rigors of the coming 162-game major league schedule. The Cubs began training at Scottsdale, Ari. in 1967. "The West's Most Western Town" boasts plenty of the primary ingredients needed for training: moderate temperatures and plenty of sunshine.

Scottsdale is located in the famous "Valley of the Sun" near booming Phoenix, Ari., the largest city in the great Southwest. The sun shines 86 percent of the daylight hours and the humidity rarely climbs above 20 percent—ideal circumstances for a spring training site.

The Cubs are one of eight teams that make up the so-called Cactus League, and one of four teams that train in the immediate Phoenix area (See inside front cover for location of other training bases).

Complete Facilities Make-Up Training Base

The parent club holds its spring workouts and plays its "home" spring games at Scottsdale Stadium, Osborn Road and Ball Park Plaza, just two blocks from downtown Scottsdale. The playing field is full-sized and the grandstand seats 4,200 fans.

Adjoining the playing field at the Stadium is a half-diamond—a complete infield to supplement the main field. Just a short distance from the Stadium a second, complete area is located for use by the Cubs' minor league clubs. It consists of complete locker facilities for the more than 100 aspiring young players who train there, as well as two full diamonds, another half-diamond, and a battery of batting cages.

Here players assigned to Cubs' minor league teams learn new skills which will prepare them for their seasons and hopefully one day help them to big league careers.

Winter Instructional Team Uses Same Base

Scottsdale Stadium is not just used for spring training by the Cubs. Each October, a team made-up of young players from every team in the organization convenes for a special training session called the "winter instructional camp." As in spring training, Scottsdale Stadium is home base for the winter instructional team, and it plays home games there against similar teams from other major league organizations.

Official hosts of the Cubs in Scottsdale are the "Charros," a group of civic-minded young businessmen associated with the Chamber of Commerce. Named for the gentried Spanish horsemen of a bygone era, they handle ticket sales, maintenance arrangements for the stadium, and a myriad of other details attendant to spring training.

WRIGLEY FIELD—HOME OF THE CUBS

The Chicago Cubs have always made it a point to provide fans with the best possible facility in which to watch major league baseball in comfort and convenience, but at the same time, to retain the rich heritage of the Cubs and Wrigley Field. One of the few remaining parks in the major leagues that was designed for the sole purpose of playing baseball, Wrigley Field is still a place where fans are close to the action. This has not changed, even though the Cubs have spent more than $5,135,000 in recent years in improvements and modernization projects, excluding expenditures for each year's regular maintenance.

More than a half century of baseball tradition is present within the ivy-covered walls of Wrigley Field. After all, here is where Babe Ruth made his famous gesture toward the bleachers before slamming a homer there, where the Cubs' famed "murders row" of Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, and Charlie Grimm pounded opposing pitchers, where Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dizzy Dean, Claude Passeau, Charley Root, Larry French, and Bill Lee toed the pitching rubber. Even in this day of instant communications, the Cubs still maintain the tradition of flying a flag bearing either a "W" or an "L" from atop the scoreboard after a game to inform a passerby of the outcome of the day's contest.

Early History of the Park

The Cubs moved to the present North Side location for the start of the 1916 season. The site had been the playing field for the Chicago Whales of the short-lived Federal League, which operated in 1914-15. The Cubs played their first game on the present site April 20, 1916, defeating Cincinnati 7-6 in 11 innings. The seating capacity was originally 14,000.

First major improvements were made in 1922-23 when the grandstand was moved back and enlarged, increasing the seating capacity to 20,000. Next, the park was double-decked in the winter of 1926-27, nearly doubling the seating capacity. During the summer of 1937 improved bleachers were constructed. Then, in 1938, wide chairs were installed in the boxes and grandstand. This added to fan comfort, reducing the park's total capacity by several thousand.

During the early years, the park was known simply as Cubs' Park. Then in 1926 it was officially named Wrigley Field in honor of William Wrigley, Jr.

In recent years, the lower grandstand in right field was turned-in so that fans sitting down the right field line would face home plate; the entire upper deck was completely re-constructed (in a four-year project that began in the winter of 1967-68 and was completed in the winter of 1970-71); and plastic, self rising, contour seats were installed in the lower deck reserved seating area, replacing folding chairs; along with many other improvement projects. During the past winter, new cafeteria-type concession stands were put in and more seats were changed to reserved grandstand, all for the fans' enjoyment.

The Flags of Wrigley Field Tell a Story

At all Cubs home games Old Glory flies from the centerfield mast-head, highest point in the park. The flags of the 12 National League cities, eight States, and Quebec fly at the Clark St. entrance.

Before and during each game, 12 pennants, one for each National League Club, fly from the yardarms in the order of the standings of each division on the morning of the game—the first place team in the East Division at top left, and the West Division leader at the right.

The Chicago Cubs flag—red and white on a blue background—displays 16 red stars representing the Cub's 16 National League Championships. The two blue stars represent the Cub's two World Championships.

Public Transportation is Easy and Convenient

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West, Clark St. buses (No. 22) and Addison buses (No. 152) take you to main gates. CTA Rapid Transit trains ("L" and subway) take you to 1/4 block from the ball park (Addison St. station). All northbound and southbound "B" trains on the North-South Rapid Transit route stop at Addison on days of all Cubs home games throughout the season. "A" trains stop one hour before game time.

Ticket Information and Prices

Reserved seat tickets for all games are available by mail. Just send your order to Director of Ticket Services, Wrigley Field, Chicago, Ill. 60613. Available on the morning of every home game are more than 17,000 general grandstand and bleacher seats, for which no reservations are needed.

Reserved tickets can be purchased in advance at the Wrigley Field Ticket Office (Addison and Sheffield).

Reserved box seats are $5.50 for adults and children. Reserved grandstand seats are $4.50 for adults and children. General grandstand seats are $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for children under 14. Admission to the bleachers is $1.50 for all ages.

HIGHLIGHTS OF CUBS HISTORY

The Chicago Cubs are rich in heritage. The team is most proud of the fact that it is the only one of the original eight charter members of the National League which has operated continuously in the same city in which it was franchised over 100 years ago.

One of the prime movers behind the establishment of the new National League in 1876 was William A. Hulbert, president of the Chicago Club. He was one of the early presidents of the League, and held the dual roles of league president and club president until his death in 1882.

The Chicago Club was known originally as the "White Stockings," although in those days nicknames were not official. About 1890 that name was dropped and the team was known by several nicknames, most notably the "Colts" and "Orphans." Legend has it that a newspaper writer, searching for a short nickname to fit a headline, first used the name "Cubs" in 1900. It was officially adopted as the nickname of the club in 1907.

Early in the 20th century the club came under the absentee ownership of the Taft family of Cincinnati, but following the 1915 season a group of influential Chicagoans, among them William Wrigley, Jr., purchased the club. Five years later, in 1921, Wrigley became majority stockholder. After the death of William Wrigley, Jr. in 1932, his son, Philip K. Wrigley, became majority stockholder. Philip K. Wrigley passed away in 1977, leaving his son, William Wrigley, principal owner of the ball club.

NOTES ON CUBS HISTORY

In 102 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 14,863 games, not counting ties, and won 7,726 of them, both lifetime major league records.

The Cubs have won 16 National League pennants, second only to the Giants with 18.

The Cubs, as a team, have hit 100 or more home runs in 27 of their last 28 seasons.

The all-time major league record for wins in a season and winning percentage in a season is held by the 1906 Cubs, who won 116 and lost 36, for a .763 percentage.

The 1935 Cubs set the club record for consecutive wins in a season with 21 in a row.

The largest crowd ever to see a baseball game at Wrigley Field, was 51,556 on June 27, 1930, against Brooklyn. Of that number, however, 30,476 were Ladies Day guests and 1,332 passholders so the official paid crowd that day was only 19,748.

The largest Opening Day crowd at Wrigley Field, 44,818, attended the first game of the second century of National League baseball in Chicago, April 13, 1976.

QUICK CHANGE ARTISTS

Max Flack and Cliff Heathcote didn't have time to worry about the fit of their new uniforms when they were traded between games of a morning-afternoon doubleheader in Chicago, May 30, 1922. The Cubs sent Flack to the Cardinals for Heathcote, and both outfielders played for their new clubs in the second game. Flack, who lived in Chicago, walked home for lunch between games. He didn't catch up with the news until fifteen minutes before the second game.

DID YOU KNOW . . . that outfielder Hank Sauer hit three home runs in two different games—all of them coming against Phillies' pitcher Curt Simmons?

DID YOU KNOW . . . that Cub pitcher John Clarkson holds the Cub record for most victories? He racked up 53 wins for the pennant-winning Cubs in 1885!

JACK BRICKHOUSE

"I like some 'Gee Whizz' enthusiasm in broadcasting sports..." is the motto and manner of sportscasting of Jack Brickhouse.

Jack has been covering baseball for Television 9 since the station's first telecast in 1948. No baseball broadcaster has televised as many games as Brickhouse.

He entered the broadcasting profession at the age of 18 on radio station WMBD in his home town of Peoria, Illinois, and at that time was the youngest sports announcer in the nation. While at WMBD he sold the station on basketball broadcasts so he could follow Bradley University's quintet on a number of coast-to-coast trips. After broadcasting sports at Peoria for six years, Jack joined WGN to cover sports for the Mutual network and WGN.

Since then he has become one of the most knowledgeable and most respected sports announcers in the business earning many Emmys among his numerous awards.

LOU BOUDREAU

Lou Boudreau, a name synonymous with the color, excitement, and expertise of major league baseball, has participated actively in the world of professional sports all of his adult life, first as one of the greatest shortstops in the history of baseball, and then as a sports broadcaster for WGN Radio.

His dedication to the world of professional baseball was recognized on January 20, 1970, when Lou was voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

He joined the Cleveland Indians in 1939 and became one of baseball's greatest shortstops. In 1942, at the age of 24, he was named manager of the Indians and by 1948 was the most popular athlete in America, in addition to being chosen as the most valuable player in the American League.

VINCE LLOYD

It takes an unusual quality of electricity to relay the excitement of a live sporting event over the radio waves, and Vince Lloyd's voltage of enthusiasm has made him one of the most respected names in sports broadcasting.

The WGN Radio voice of the Chicago Cubs since 1966, Vince possesses the exacting expertise to convince the listener that "He was there, and saw it all," even if he was listening from his car radio.
